

UNLOCK

Creativity through game-based learning at higher education

Daniel Magueta

Daniel Magueta - Adjunct Professor at the Águeda School of Technology and Management, University of Aveiro (ESTGA-UA). He has a PhD in Economic and Business Sciences from the University of Aveiro (DEGEIT-UA), a Master's Degree in Business Economics and a Degree in Economics from the same university. Post-graduated in Pedagogical Aptitude by the University of León (ULE - Faculty of Labour Sciences). Professor at ESTGA-UA since 2007, he has lectured throughout the years several curricular units in the area of Economics and Management, at different levels of education (CTeSP, BSc and MSc). He is currently the Director of the Degree in Retail Management and Vice-Director of the Master's Degree in Retail Management. At the research level, he has several articles presented in conferences and published in international journals, related to Industrial Economics, Entrepreneurship, Energy and Environmental Economics, Sports Economics, Education, among others.

