

Heidi Hautopp

Ph.D. Fellow at Aalborg University, Department of Culture and Learning | Denmark

Heidi Hautopp is a Ph.D. Fellow at the Department of Culture and Learning, Aalborg University, Copenhagen. Heidi Hautopp investigates the use of graphic facilitation as a method in educational and organizational contexts. The approach in her research project is through iterative design processes to test and further develop the method with the aim of producing application-oriented knowledge with a focus on educational and organizational development.

Next to Hautopp's Ph.d. project, she is employed as a study assistant and handle teaching and supervision tasks, especially in the master's programs; IT, learning and organizational change, Learning and change processes as well as the bachelor's program Communication and digital media. Hautopp is also affiliated with the teaching group around NoVA master's program (Nordic Visual Studies and Art Education).

In addition, Hautopp collaborates with Play Lab at Kolding Design School and is a co-founder of the Danish Play Think Tank.

As an expert, Heidi Hautopp is one of the co-authors of Hautopp, Ejsing-Duun and Vigild (2019), and is a PhD Fellow, Department of Culture and Learning at Aalborg University, Denmark. Heidi is involved in the The Center for Applied Game Research.

Research interests

- Graphic facilitation
- Visual methods
- Sketching
- Design thinking
- Learning
- Play
- Games

Follow her profile and work

https://www.researchgate.net/profile/Heidi\_Hautopp

<https://vbn.aau.dk/da/persons/135008>